

It is my contention that number portability is imperative in order to ensure fair business practices, and allow consumers the option of switching carriers without the risk, and without the hassle of switching to a new phone number. It only makes sense to initiate such an act.